THE St. Louis Republic says that Tom Reed's plan of settling the silver question is on a par with his plan of counting quorums.

THE Bangor Commercial says that Senator Aldrich is oppressed by the thought that the sugar tariff will be a tax of $50,000,000 to $75,000,000 upon the people of the United States—forgetting the Republican theory that the foreigner will pay it! Of course, a bounty would tax nobody. It would just come out of the Treasury like the eggs that are drawn from the magician's inexhaustible hat.

HERE'S some excellent advice from the Mt. Olivet Advance: "Now that the Republicans have selected a man for Congress, and, of course, will do all in their power to elect him it is not a difficult matter to decide what is the duty of the Democrats of the district. We should work together, vote together and, in November, rejoice together over the election of Hon. R. K. Hart."

KILLED NEAR COTTAGEVILLE.

Hiram Adams Shot Down by Wesley Osborne—Threats of Lynching the Murderer.

Hiram Adams, aged about eighteen, was shot and instantly killed by Wesley Osborne Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock near Cottageville.
 Osborne's home was the scene of the murder. Wm. Pritchard was an eyewitness of the killing, and, in trying to prevent the shooting, was himself shot through the wrist.
 Osborne fired three shots, but only one of them struck Adams. The ball struck the unfortunate young man just above the left nipple and passed through the heart.
 Osborne fled and had not been captured at last accounts. He is a rough character, and figured in several shooting scrapes previous to this. He has also been prosecuted several times for selling liquor unlawfully.
 Adams was a son of F. M. Adams. From all the information it appears that the shooting was done without any provocation. Osborne ordered Adams to leave the house, and then shot him down before he could get out of the room. One report is that all the parties had been drinking. Another is that Osborne held an old grudge against Adams.
 The people of the neighborhood are much wrought up over the tragedy and threaten to lynch Osborne if he is caught. It is said they notified Osborne's wife to leave, as they intended burning the house, claiming that it is a regular gambling and liquor-drinking den.
 The murdered man was a cousin of Osborne's wife.

George Washington.

The formal announcement of Colonel George Washington, of Newport, as a candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals appears elsewhere in this issue. He has been in the race from the start, and has probably made a more thorough canvass than any of his opponents. He has won friends wherever he has gone and is acknowledged to be one of the foremost aspirants in the fight.
 Colonel Washington represented his county in the last Constitutional convention, and was one of the ablest members of that body. He stands at the head of the Newport Bar, and ranks among the leading lawyers of Kentucky. Without disparaging the claims of his opponents, it must be said that he is eminently fitted for the Appellate bench, and the Democrats of the district will make no mistake in honoring him with the high office he seeks.
